4.	PASSAGE CONTRACT
4.1.	Passage Planning The Short Sea Line manager plans the passage.
4.2.	Fares for Passengers and accompanied vehicles The Passenger Sector Managers process the fares, and then Management approves them.
4.3.	Advertising, sales promotion, offer The Sector Management provides for advertising through specialised agencies. The Passenger Service Management promotes the sales and operates: - In Italy, through corporate sales promotion departments and travel agencies; - Abroad, through Grimaldi offices or general sales agents (GSA). The offer is formulated in detail with the aid of brochures or the website including: routes and departure dates, fares and prices, terms and conditions of service and services offered on board. The fares applied to some sea lines are mobile, meaning they may vary depending on the occupation of the vessel capacity.
4.4.	Contract review Contract review means the Company's checking of availability of the spot requested concerning a specific departure date. This check corresponds to the "booking" managed by the Booking Office. The booking request may come: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Directly from the Client • From the Travel Agency • From the Tour Operator (Travel organiser) • From the Peripheral or Foreign branch or General Sales Agent (G.S.A.) • At the Corporate sales points • From a telephone call, fax, correspondence, E-mail or the Internet (Business to Consumer and Business to Business). Since the Booking Office, the branch office and travel agency partners have direct access to the reservation system, they check and confirm the price and availability together with the Client. By way of acceptance, the client must pay the full ticket price based on the published General Conditions. If the offer is accepted, the next step is the contract phase.
4.5.	Travel contract The issuing of the passage ticket represents the travel contract. The travel contract is governed by the Navigation Code, by Decree Law 206/2005 dated 06/09/2005, EU Regulation 1177/2010 dated 24/11/2010 and the General Conditions, the full text of which is available at all Grimaldi Lines offices and on www.grimaldi-lines.com. With Decree Law 206/2005, Italy transposed European Directive 314/90 on travel, holidays and "all inclusive" circuits. The client is given a carriage pass (ticket) representing the carriage contract in agreement with the Navigation Act. By buying the ticket, the passenger enters into a contract highlighting and confirming the services booked and the price details. For each departure, the Booking Office sends a Passenger List to the vessel, the Agent or office in charge of embarking operations. At scheduled times, the automated embarkation system will automatically send the embarkation list to the vessel, the Agent or the Office in charge of embarking operations.

13.11. Final remarks

The limitations and restrictions for the transport of animals are required for the benefit of all passengers.

14. PASSENGER REGISTRATION

Checking passengers during embarkation / Counting passengers during intermediate stops

According to the Ministerial decree dated 13 October 1999 (implementation of European Directive 98/41), the Company implements a passenger registration procedure to:

- Ensure that the number of persons on board does not exceed the maximum allowed by the safety certificate for each unit;
- Collect information on all persons on board to facilitate search and rescue operations and cope with SAR events;
- Always be aware of the number of people (passengers, crew, guests, technicians, etc.) present on board.

The competent ministry of transportation through the General Command of the Port Authorities approves the registration systems.

The booking, e-booking and ForthCRS booking system (for lines from Ancona and Venice) are set so that more tickets than the set limit are not issued. This limit is set to ensure the number of people on board does not exceed the maximum allowed by the security certificate of each unit (infants up to 1 year of age are not counted). The maximum number of crew with a full workforce is always established for the purpose of booking.

Also, to have knowledge of the number of people (passengers, crew, guests, technicians, etc.) on board at any time, the Master is responsible for counting people embarking at each point of call, through shipboard personnel, coordinated by the Purser. With the use of a bar code reader, the shipboard personnel read the pax embarkation pass after checking correspondence of the ticket with an identification document. The data loaded into the "person counter" is downloaded to the system by the Purser to enable the automatic processing of the final embarkation list to be sent to the competent authorities in the time and manner established.

Passenger checks during embarkation

Access on board is only permitted to passengers with a regular travel ticket/embarkation pass and only through the embarkation/disembarkation points indicated on board.

Tickets are checked during the embarkation of passengers as follows:

- a. The Purser or one or more of its delegates will check the tickets during embarkation of passengers on foot and with accompanied vehicles;
- b. Embarkation of all passengers on foot will take place through a single correctly identified pedestrian access (PASSENGERS EMBARKATION POINT);
- c. Before allowing access on board, the personnel referred to in point a) will provide for the following for each passenger:
 - i. Checking of possession of a valid ticket;
 - ii. Checking of possession of an identification document;
 - iii. Checking of correspondence between the passenger's name on the document and on the ticket;
 - iv. Registration of the passenger's embarkation (using optical scanners or by manual check for vessels not equipped with optical scanners).

Please note that, in agreement with the provisions of regulations in force and as already provided for in section 12.4.1.8 of the SMS Manual, the Purser sends the complete list of passengers to the PASSENGER REGISTRATION SYSTEM MANAGER within 30 minutes before departure.

Embarkation and disembarkation of vehicles are allowed only with the driver on board unless the competent authorities establish specific exceptions.

The total number of people on board must be reported:

- To the Master before departure of the vessels
- To the Person in charge (or Officer) recording the information
- To the designated authorities during departure and through the Master

The Person in charge of recording the passengers is Francesca Marino.

The registration of passengers for all lines is done with the automated E-booking system, except for the Ancona-Venice-Igoumenitsa-Patras lines, for which the ForthCRS is used.

The data collection system can either be automated (A) or manual (B) depending on the installations on board and in the ticket offices.

A) Vessels with automated data registration system

During booking, the E-booking and ForthCRS systems collect the necessary data envisaged by the Decree: name, surname, gender, nationality, date of birth and information about any special treatments or assistance required by the passenger during emergency situations. Moreover, the request for "special assistance in case of emergencies" is transcribed on the booking file and automatically reported on the passenger list when passengers explicitly request this assistance.

The passenger list is sent to our port agents and the Purser:

E-booking system: The e-booking system interfaces with the computerized DMGPAX system, available in the port ticket offices and on board vessels. This system is used to issue boarding passes and to check the lists and any on-board services (for example, meal packages) associated with passengers.

ForthCRS system (Ancona - Venice - Igoumenitsa - Patras route): the ForthCRS system, connected with its check-in module, issues a ticket on thermal paper to be converted possibly on board into a cabin key if the ticket includes the booking of this accommodation.

During embarkation, the Purser checks and corrects any incorrect information and completes the passenger list.

Upon departure, the vessel must have a passenger list complete with all the information required by Decree dated 13/10/1999.

Having received the passenger list and when embarkation is closed, the Purser, or a delegated person, downloads the "person counter" data into the DMGPAX system or in the check-in module of the ForthCRS system to obtain a final list of the actual passengers on board, highlighting the no-shows. This list must be sent to the Authorities 30 minutes before the vessel's scheduled departure time. The 30-minute limit also applies for night departures and departures on bank holidays.

The Purser sends the final passenger list, and the list of crew boarded (also complete with the necessary data) by e-mail to:

- The registration officer
- Passenger Office in Naples that will update the passenger data as quickly as possible and as a priority.
- Competent authorities (upon request)

In the case of malfunction of the e-booking, ForthCRS system or DMGPAX system, there is a back up of the information, which is then recorded and stored anyway.

The method for using the ticket issuance computer system is shared with all people responsible for its use.

The e-booking and ForthCRS registration systems (software) meet all the functional criteria provided for by Article 7 of Decree 13/10/1999, namely: readability, availability, functionality, and security. The same requisites are satisfied when the manual system is used.

The application of Decree 13/10/1999 is mentioned in the General Conditions attached to the ticket and are published on the website www.grimaldi-lines.com, these also include compliance required by Legislative Decree 196 dated 30 June 2003 "PERSONAL DATA PROTECTION CODE".

B) Vessels with manual data registration system

The vessel receives the advance embarkation list from the port's ticket office. The crew updates this list.

Within 30 minutes from the departure of the vessel, the Purser must send the complete and updated list of passengers on board to the Passenger Office in Naples via e-mail or fax. The 30-minute limit also applies for night departures and departures on bank holidays. The booking office will update the passenger data as quickly as possible and as a priority.

Counting passengers during intermediate stops

The on board Purser under the supervision of the Vessel Master will implement the following procedure during the disembarkation of passengers at intermediate stops:

- Before arriving at the port, the Purser will designate two crew members, one to count their passengers disembarking on foot and one to count those disembarking with an accompanied vehicle;
- During disembarkation of the passengers, the two designated crewmembers will count the disembarking passengers with the supplied people counter. Moreover, they will collect the boarding passes. Passengers without boarding passes will be conducted to reception to be identified.
- When disembarkation is completed, these crew members will record the numbers detected on the FM/USQA/VR/VR/118 form (annexed to the above-mentioned ministerial memorandum) and will sign the bottom of the form;
- The Purser will then verify the numbers detected during disembarkation for congruency with those on the passenger lists and will tick off the names of passengers who disembarked using the boarding passes. According to the privacy law, the boarding passes must be destroyed.
- This form will be stored in the BOX SMS 063 (Attached label) in the Purser Office, which is proof that this procedure has been implemented.

If the Purser is not on board the vessel, the Vessel Master will be responsible for applying this process.

15. DRIVERS

Driver means any driver of a commercial vehicle loaded onto the vessel. There may be more than one driver for each vehicle. The price of passage is fixed by the UCOM and must be included in the bill of lading, along with the name and surname of the driver.

The latter must have the identity documents required for the journey and to disembark in the destination country.

The drivers are treated as passengers for the purposes of SOLAS and Decree 13/10/1999.

15.1. Embarkation card

Each driver will receive a regular embarkation card during check in.

15.2. On board arrangement

Drivers will be assigned a cabin, vessel's availability permitting.

15.3. On board meals

Drivers have the right to free meals. See section 17.12.

16. WORK INSTRUCTIONS FOR PORT AGENTS

16.1. General

The port agent deals with embarkation and disembarkation, passenger and vehicle pre-embarkation assistance and checks (check in), the sale of tickets at the port, and contact with port, customs, and immigration authorities.

16.2. Welcoming - Embarkation

The port agent is responsible for welcoming passengers ashore. The port agent must:

- Make sure there are adequate signs within the port to direct the client to our terminal/embarkation area/check-in point;
- Install the display board indicating the embarkation time, if available, and always keep this updated;
- Provide passengers with all the information required.

The port agent is responsible for ensuring adequate welcoming based on the structures available. Passengers waiting for embarkation must have toilettes and refreshment options available near or at a reasonable distance from the waiting area. Passengers without a vehicle must have a covered area with the possibility to sit made available.

The embarkation of passengers starts when the Purser gives approval. This authorisation cannot be granted before the vessel is ready to welcome the passengers.

The embarkation time must be agreed to between the port agent, Purser, and boarding office, which must also take into account that:

- Keeping passengers waiting too long on the ground must be avoided;
- Passengers must be embarked so that meals can be served at regular hours.

The passenger-driver must embark the vehicles based on instructions received from the deck officer.

During the embarkation of passengers without vehicles, any movement of vehicles to and from the vessel must be stopped.

Passengers cannot embark without a valid ticket for the departure in question.

The port ticket offices all have computers connected to the central system.

16.2.1 Passengers already with tickets

• Fast check-in procedure

In the ports where the fast check-in procedure is available, the passenger must not go to the ticket office and the terminal personnel will direct this passenger to an area near the vessel's mooring quay.

When check-in procedures start, the ticket office personnel, together with the on-board personnel (purser staff), will check in the passengers by checking the barcode or QR code found on the travel document (ticket, voucher or boarding pass) using a handheld device, equipped with a scanner.

The personnel responsible for check in will control the following:

- i. Possession of a valid travel document;
- ii. Possession of a valid identity document;
- iii. Correspondence of the passenger's name on the identity document and travel document;
- iv. Correspondence of the accompanied vehicle on the document and travel document.
In the case of doubts on the rate/category applied to the vehicle, the vehicle will be measured if necessary and the passenger will be asked to pay the fare difference.

The software of the held hand device checks if the passengers are regularly added to the vessel's passenger list and, if this check is positive, two stickers will be printed and handed over to the passengers; one sticker will contain personal details of the passenger and the other will contain the vehicle information.

If the printer connected to the hand held device does not work, passengers will be given the company's pre-printed stickers attesting to the completion of check-in procedures.

If the passenger also booked a cabin, once embarked, he/she must go to the automatic kiosks found on board to print the cabin keys. These kiosks scan the bar code present on the travel document and automatically print the cabin key. The kiosks are only activated while the vessel is berthing; they are deactivated and moved once the vessel has departed.

• Traditional check-in procedure

For lines using the traditional procedure, the passenger must go to the Grimaldi Lines desk at the port to check in and receive the boarding card.

In any case, the following procedure must be followed:

During the embarkation of passengers, the travel tickets will be checked as follows:

- The Purser or a delegate will check the travel tickets during embarkation of passengers on foot and with an accompanied car; in the case of doubts on the rate/category applied to the vehicle, the vehicle will be measured if necessary and the passenger will be asked to pay the fare difference. For accompanied vehicles, the personnel will give the passenger the "embarkation" sticker to be placed on the windshield.
- a. All passengers on foot will be embarked through a single properly identified pedestrian access (PASSENGERS EMBARKATION POINT);
- b. Before authorising access on board, the personnel mentioned above will check the following for each passenger:
 - v. Possession of a valid travel document;
 - vi. Possession of a valid identity document;
 - vii. Correspondence of the passenger's name on the identity document and travel document;
 - viii. Recording of the passenger's embarkation (using optical scanners or manual checking off for vessels not equipped with optical scanners).

Travel documents:

Lines between Schengen area countries

- EU citizens must have a valid Identity Document valid for foreign travel

Ideally, the crew must promptly intervene to deal with and try to solve the complaint. If this is not possible, a neutral attitude must be taken. Do not blame and avoid agreeing with the client, especially if the claim could result in an application for reimbursement or compensation. If the client asks a board crew member to verbalise a fact, he/she must be limited to drafting a "state of facts" so as not to affect the management of any client complaints by the Company's competent offices.

These actions may include the supplier/contractor's resolution of the problem, the Company's intervention or termination of the contract.
20.	CORRECTIVE AND PREVENTIVE ACTIONS Corrective actions on the quality system and/or procedures set out in this Regulation may result from the Master and/or on-board Quality Committee's assessments or the systematic analysis of non-conformities and complaints filed by passengers.

The research and analysis of the causes of non-conformity or complaints are essential to improving the service and product quality. As far as possible and when the reasons are obvious and relate exclusively to the on-board services, corrective actions are implemented immediately.

When the causes of non-conformities are not readily detectable or are not attributable to the on-board services, the on-ground quality manager is notified of the situation so that he/she may carry out the appropriate or necessary investigations. Even in this case, the entire process is adequately recorded (poor condition, causes determining it, corrective action, checking the adequacy and effectiveness of the action).
